

MISSION MINDED

Sharing Christ in a Diverse Society

with Ray Porter

Director of World Mission Studies at Oak Hill College.

Drawing on his experience of doing mission and training people for mission in other parts of the world, Ray will reflect on how we can be more mission minded in our own increasingly diverse society.

Sunday 27th April 2008,
4.30-7.30pm with food
Holywell School, Cranfield
(Between Bedford and the M1)

Ray Porter

Ray's major ministries have been in two blocks of fourteen years with OMF: one in Indonesia where he pastored and established churches, and the other as a Regional Director in the UK where he has recruited and encouraged missionaries and mission support.

Shorter slots have been as minister of a UK church and as New Testament lecturer at Belfast Bible College.

He studied Mission at All Nations and has managed to accumulate eight years studying theology in Oxford.

Ray serves in the Diocese as a member of the leadership team at St Mary's Eaton Socon

Getting There

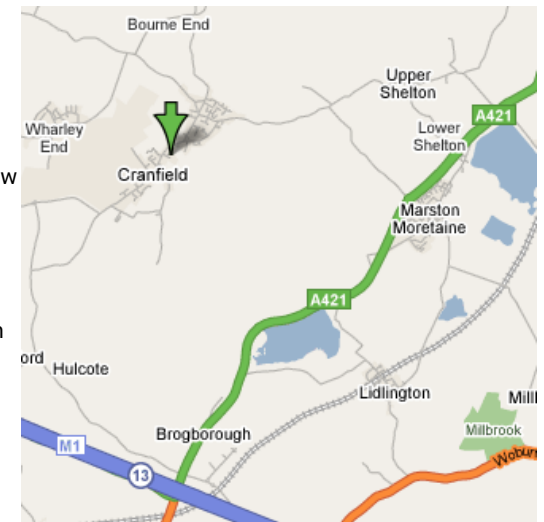

Holywell School Hall, Holywell School, Red Lion Close, Cranfield, Beds. MK43 0JA

1. From East, South or Bedford area.

From Bedford (and bypass) take A421 heading southwest towards J13 of M1. At Marston Moretaine (little chef roundabout) turn right for Cranfield and then left at T Junction. Continue to follow road into Cranfield until zebra crossing (near Cross Keys pub) after which take first left into Red Lion Close.

2. From M1 – Junction 13

Follow signs for Cranfield University then Cranfield village. That is: turn immediately left on A421 at first traffic lights. After about 2 miles turn right at Salford and then right again towards Cranfield village. About 400 yards past first zebra crossing the road constricts - take next right into Red Lion Close.

Organisers

Mission Minded is the title for a series of evening conferences to encourage the whole church in mission. It is organised by a group of Anglican evangelical ministers in the St. Albans Diocese including Peter Ackroyd, Martin Bailey, David Heath-Whyte, David Phillips, and Hugh Symes-Thompson. We welcome Christians from any denomination.
